

Rethinking Hurricane Katrina

Spring 2008, Critical Thinking course, 3 Credits

ENVS 4800-003

T, Th 2:00- 3:15 PM

The impact of Hurricane Katrina on the city of New Orleans is an event unprecedented in the U.S. in modern times. This course will dissect the environmental, political, sociological, and economic issues that led to and have resulted from Katrina. We will also cover the history of this ecologically and culturally unique city. Students will participate in independent research, writing, and class presentations. Email: nemergut@colorado.edu for more information.

Dr. Nemergut is a graduate of the University of New Orleans and a former participant in the New Orleans Youth Action Corps Americorps program.