

INFIDEL KINGS AND UNHOLY WARRIORS

FAITH, POWER, AND VIOLENCE
IN THE AGE OF CRUSADE AND JIHAD

BRIAN A. CATLOS

Also by Brian A. Catlos

Muslims of Medieval Latin Christendom, c. 1050–1614

The Rough Guide to Languedoc and Roussillon

The Victors and the Vanquished: Christians and Muslims of Catalonia and Aragon, 1050–1300

AS EDITOR

Worlds of History and Economics: Essays in Honour of Andrew M. Watson

Contents

Map: The Mediterranean World, c. 1050	ix
A Note on Sources	xiii
A Note on Names	xv
Introduction: The Mediterranean World	3
PART I: THE (JEWISH) MAN WHO WOULD BE KING
1. An Ornament, Tarnished	15
2. The Rules of the Game	44
PART II: A CHRISTIAN SULTAN IN THE AGE OF "THE RECONQUEST"
3. The Cid Rides Again	69
4. Rodrigo Díaz, Taifa King of Valencia	98

viii / Contents

PART III: KINGS OF SICILY, KINGS OF AFRICA

5. A Norman Conquest	127
6. Don't Ask, Don't Tell	156

PART IV: INFIDEL RULERS OF A HERETICAL CALIPHATE

7. After the Messiah	183
8. Traitors and Spies	213

PART V: AMBITION, OPPORTUNISM, AND THE END OF AN ERA

9. A Heavenly Kingdom?	241
10. Jerusalem Restored	275

Epilogue: The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire	307
Afterword: Holy War, a User's Manual	317

Dynasty Trees	325
Glossary	329
Sources, Background, and Further Reading	335
Notes	345
Works Cited	353
Acknowledgments	367
Index	369