YUMI JANAIRO ROTH

Images from Meta Maps, 2007

Project conducted in Pilsen, Czech Republic, in collaboration with Andrew Blackstock and Casey McGuire

On request, Pilsen residents drew maps on the hands of Roth and her collaborators leading to various sites in the city (for example, from a coffeehouse to a cathedral, or from a university to a shopping mall). Roth and friends then showed photographs of the hand maps, printed and folded like tourist maps, to people on the street, asking for help in following the directions.
